He's having a baby! Or wait, Alec Baldwin's wife, Hilaria, is the one expecting their third child this fall.

Cooper cool to Trump guy

AFTER Page Six reported that CNN staffers are nearly revolting over Jeff Zucker's hiring of Corey Lewandowski as a commentator — sources said Anderson Cooper doesn't want the former Donald Trump campaign manager on his show. "Anderson was concerned about Corey's nondisclosure agreement with Trump," said a source. "And whether CNN should point out he has one." Lewandowski's legally prevented from criticizing Trump, and CNN technically should announce that to viewers ahead of each appearance. But a CNN rep insisted Cooper's chilly reception to Corey was "not true," adding that on Tuesday night, "Corey was in fact booked on [Cooper's show] 'AC360' ... but the panel was bumped due to breaking news out of Turkey." Meanwhile, Politico reported Wednesday that Lewandowski lost a $1.2 million book deal with HarperCollins after failing to provide a copy of the now-mythic nondisclosure agreement. The report claimed Lewandowski was shopping a book "tentatively titled 'Let Trump Be Trump'" while working for the candidate. The project picked up steam again when Lewandowski was fired by Trump. But, "HarperCollins asked to review a copy of the nondisclosure agreement," Politico said. "Lewandowski declined to do so, ultimately leading HarperCollins to decide not to renew its initial offer."

How to 'meat' single men

"MILLION Dollar Matchmaker" Patti Stanger told Michelle Collins, a comic who was fired from "The View," that if she wants a man, she needs to hang out in a (literal) meat market. Collins moderated a Q&A with Stanger at the Crosby Street Hotel, where "Patti advised Michelle to hang out at a steakhouse and read a book at the bar to meet a man because 'men like meat,' a spy said. "Patti said she'd pay $60 for the steak, but would meet a guy." Collins joked at the event that she's gone from "The View" to unemployment," and was happy to do the Q&A to get $500. She'll make some extra money performing for $5 a ticket at the Upright Citizens Brigade Theatre in Chelsea on July 13.
