FOODWEEK

Pull out the wine glasses and empty plates. It's time to enjoy the sweet tastes of Hollywood products.

While some celebrities choose to focus solely on their craft of singing, acting or being themselves on reality TV, others take on the title of businessperson with a few side projects.

Such is the case for more and more Hollywood stars who are dipping their taste buds in the food and alcohol industry with clever and unique products that fans can't get enough of.

From Bethenny Frankel's Skinnygirl empire to Patti LaBelle's sweet potato pies, you may just be surprised to see what your favorite celebs are creating in and out of the kitchen.

In honor of Food Week at E! News, take a look at the products that could suit your taste buds no matter what your likes and passions are.

For the Netflix and Chill Fan

Craving some nice and quiet time with your significant other? Maybe you just want to lay in bed all day on a Saturday or Sunday? Whatever your situation may be, we have some suggestions. For snacks, we recommend trying Jacqueline Laurita and Chris Laurita's The Little Kernel popcorn.

There's also tons of sweet candy from Maria Sharapova's Sugarpova line.

Wash it all down with Christina Milian's Viva Diva Wines or Patti Stanger's P.S. Match Wine that has a goal of "bringing people together." Coincidence? We think not.

For the Bravoholic

No matter what city is your favorite in the Real Housewives franchise, chances are there are plenty of tasty items to enjoy from all across the country. New York's Ramona Singer has her Pinot Grigio while New Jersey's Kathy Wakile has her dessert line that includes cannolis and coffee.

Lisa Vanderpump wants everyone to imagine a life with only diamonds and rosé thanks to her LVP sangria. As for Bethenny Frankel, she has everything in her Skinnygirl empire including margaritas, popcorn, salad dressings and more. And you thought these ladies were just housewives.

For the Pop Culture Superfan

Some food and beverages deserve their own category for true entertainment lovers. A-list actress Drew Barrymore has found time to create a tasty Pinot Grigio and Pinot Noir. Sopranos star Steve Schirripa has his own line of pasta sauces. Paula Deen continues to sell her signature hams as well as jellies, marinades and salad dressings through her website.

And how could anyone forget Patti LaBelle's Sweet Potato Pies that made Wal-Mart a must-visit destination especially around the holidays?

So, is anyone feeling hungry?
